Receive an Email Stating That Your Automatic Build Failed? Loop Beta Expired?

Browser Builders:

Please check here to see if your distribution certificate is expired and here to make sure that agreements are signed.

If you receive an email stating that your automatic build failed, you can post your GitHub username in our Facebook group and someone will help you, or you can check your Apple Developer agreement and your distribution certificate, which are the 2 most common errors for automatic rebuilds. If you are using Loop and have the distribution certificate error, please comment on this post with:

Distribution Certificate error:

- Error: Unable to create a valid authorization token for the App Store Connect API. Verify that the FASTLANE_ISSUER_ID, FASTLANE_KEY_ID, and FASTLANE_KEY secrets are set correctly and try again.
- Trio users should update to Trio 0.2.3, which automatically updates an expired/invalid distribution certificate.
- Loop users need to follow these instructions, starting with Step 2

Apple Developer Agreement:

- Error: Unable to create a valid authorization token for the App Store Connect API. Verify that the latest developer program license agreement has been accepted at <https://developer.apple.com/account> (review and accept any updated agreement) then wait a few minutes for changes to propagate and try again.
